

Group Guidelines

Section 1: Define the type of the question

- Asking for personal experience → Section 2
- Asking for listing items → Section 3
- Asking for suggestions → Section 4
- Asking some facts → Section 5
- Others → Section 6

Section 2: Asking for personal experience

- (1) [not related to the topic, not answer the question]
- (2) [Joke, not reasonable]
- (3) [not real experience, but reasonable]
- (4) [common personal experience, answer the question, reasonable]
- (5) [unique personal experience, answer the question, reasonable]
- What is the worst thing you got away with in school?
 - (1) take a class in classroom
 - (2) setting the fire to the aircraft in school
 - (3) I dreamed setting the fire to the hair of a female classmate
 - (4) Skip a class
 - (5) setting the fire to the hair of a female classmate

Section 3: Asking for listing items

Section 3.1: Objective question, just need to list the items [e.g. only need to know the things but not need to know why the responder chose the things] (do not need reason)

- (1) [Not related to the topic, not answer the question]
- (2) [Joke, not reasonable]
- (3) [Answer doesn't give specific information]
- (4) [General answer, does not mention specific items]
- (5) [Answer specific items]
- Which PC games do you currently have installed?
 - (1) list not PC games
 - (2) I don't play games
 - (3) you can search on google for best top/popular games
 - (4) games factory is good, you can try from this manufacturer
 - (5) list many specific PC games

Section 3.2: Subjective questions, need to explain the reasons [e.g. not only need to know the things but also need to know why the responder chose the things] (need reason, e.g. favorite, like, not like, hate, dislike, worst, most, least, etc.)

- (1) [not related to the topic, not answer the question]
- (2) [Joke, not reasonable]
- (3) [General answer, does not mention specific items]
- (4) [Answer specific items without reasons]
- (5) [Specific items with reasonable reasons]
- What are your favorite PC games do you currently have installed?

- (1) not list PC games
- (2) I don't play games
- (3) list general games, not specify the game name (a game type, a game factory, etc.)
- (4) list many specific PC games
- (5) list PC games as well as explain why they are the favorite

Section 4: Asking for suggestions

- (1) [Not a suggestion related to the topic]
 - (2) [A suggestion in a bad manner]
 - (3) [Answer without reasons]
 - (4) [A reasonable suggestion with subjective reasons or personal experience]
 - (5) [A reasonable suggestion with extra explicit reason, and provide extra information (e.g. some facts, videos, links, books, etc.)]
- Conversations with myself. Am I normal? I don't know, am I?
 - (1) Are you serious?
 - (2) You are fking abnormal
 - (3) it is normal
 - (4) 50% people have the same situation, it is normal to you, I actually do this too, it is a conscious action. If it is omre than that...you might wanna check yourself
 - (5) 50% people have the same situation, this is cause by XXXX (there is a video explain this: LINK), it is normal to you, I actually do this too, it is a conscious action. If it is omre than that...you might wanna check yourself

Section 5: Asking for some facts

- (1) [Not provide an answer]
 - (2) [Joking]
 - (3) [Answer doesn't give specific information]
 - (4) [facts without solid evidence]
 - (5) [facts with solid evidence]
- What is UNSC stand for?
 - (1) unknown
 - (2) you noisy stupid children
 - (3) you can search on the internet / it's a game name
 - (4) United Nations Security Council
 - (5) for real world, it commonly means United Nations Security Council; in the game, it means United Nations Space Command (a battle name of a game)

Section 6: other types of questions

(1) Strongly Disagree / Not At All Helpful

- Does not answer the question
- Does not answer the question, but answer a related question
 - What are some summery activities that kids can do without going outside?
 - Reply gzzak9d
 - Did not answer what activities can be done inside, but on find ways to play outside

(2) Disagree / Somehow Not Helpful

- Answer the question but making jokes (in a wrong way, and the answer is not meaningful / cannot learn from it)
 - What are 2 characters from different franchises that would be 100% best friends?
 - Reply gwhkc32: "Ronald McDonald and Burger King"
 - Adversarial answers but related to the question (if the joke is just a joke which does not related to the question, it should be marked as (1))
- Ethical/Biased/Illegal/not respectful...
 - Who is the most famous person you've kissed?
 - Reply Gykeaoy: "I kissed the crucified Jesus once, does that count?"
 - A religious bias which is not respectful
- Trying to answer but not directly answer the question or show ambiguous/attractive answer without details/explanation
 - If one person wanted to make a real difference, what's the best approach to help the homeless in the US?
 - Reply gzzeep0: "'I cannot do all the good that the world needs. But the world needs all the good that I can do.' -- Jana Stanfield"
 - Not directly say that we need to try best to do what we can do, but refer to a quote
 - Has anybody been randomly hugged?
 - I am the person who hugged others, and XXX (talking only about her experience as the person who hug others)
 - Not express the feeling of been hugged but give some feeling of hugging
- Answering in a bad attitude or negative manner but answering the question

(3) Neural

- [illegible]

- Not directly answer the question but show relative knowledge which may help to understand
 - ELI5: Is there a difference between sleeping late (say, 4 A.M.) and sleeping early (for example, 9 P.M.) if I sleep 8 hours every time?
 - Reply gzupawa: "I suffer from delayed sleep phase disorder (DSPD), so I've had the unfortunate opportunity to learn quite a bit about this. First, what people are saying about sleeping outside of your circadian rhythm is true. Your body has a sleep cycle it likes to adhere to, you can sleep outside of it, but it's almost always significantly worse in quality. However, what most of people are claiming to affect circadian rhythm is actually pretty shallow research. Certain things seem to be more important than others, like exposure to daylight; but the problem is that there isn't one overarching indicator. People just respond to too many different variables in too many different ways to have a completely successful measure on it. What causes your own circadian rhythm isn't always so simple. There are a lot of other environmental factors that can outweigh light cycles and such."

(4) Agree / Somehow Helpful

- Short answer with unsolid reason
 - What was your favorite thing growing up?
 - Reply gwj0dp3: "I loved tractors, I grew up in a farming area....still do love tractors, cool Semi trucks and heavy equipment...30 years later."
 - Even have the answer, but not linked with "growing up", expected have experience on interactions with the tractors
- Concept that not common knowledge without explanation nor reference (but still have answers with reasons)
 - Who is the biggest fraud and why?
 - Reply gwhkg0d: "Bernie Madoff managed to fool a lot of people by trusting their money with him. The documentary interviewed some of the people he scammed, and it was heart-wrenching to see them explain how they've had their retirement plans going for them from all the hard work they've earned, which got taken away. Demonstrating how much of a deadly sin greed truly is."
- Answer more than the question asked
- Answers with reasons but in too many words (≥ 2000 words)
- Answers with kind of reasons but express in casual way
- Answer the question but show an explanation which may not directly support the answer
 - Losing weight by simply eating less and running more doesn't succeed for everyone, so what does?
 - Reply gzyvbhq: "Surgery. Seriously, that's it. Bodies are complex. Reducing caloric intake and increasing calories burned are the most universal ways to lose weight, but certain genetic factors mean it may take unreasonably drastic amounts of calorie cutting and burning to lose weight. Meanwhile, any particular diet type (low carb, keto, Mediterranean, etc) all work for some people but not others."

- The explanation is just to explain why eating less is not a good way, but did not express why the surgery is the good/better solution.
- Follow scale (5) but have an emotional attitude.
 - What tiny injustice are you still mad about?
 - Reply gzs7s30: "My senior year of high school some friends and I pitched in and bought a large pizza and had one of our moms drop it off at lunch time. No commotion or excess excitement in the lunch room about this, but the principal at the time came and took it stating advertising of outside restaurants is against school policy and it would be disposed of. Not even letting us eat it in the office by ourselves. The next day the vice-principal's daughter brought in 3 subway sandwiches and nobody said a word. Screw you Mr. Mckee you toupee wearing asshole."
- Suggestions to "how" questions without solid references or not practical (too general)
 - How do ya'll go out in public without being completely disgusted by other people?
 - Reply gzs7s30: "We are living in a world of negative for sure right now. Only option is to keep our funny, laughing & positive side alive. If your with negative ppl bring up positive context into the conversation. If someone your with is dragging you down tell them about it. Sometimes ppl have no clue they are always negative. Hang in there."

(5) Strongly Agree / Very Helpful

- Answer with explanation/interpretation/example/evidence which should support the result (solid reason)
 - Losing weight by simply eating less and running more doesn't succeed for everyone, so what does?
 - Example Answer: explain the process of eating less and running more and explain why it will not help using references/numbers (link to videos, books, articles, etc.), and talk about other ways (for example, show that a video explain why this way works)
- Concept that not common knowledge with explanation or reference, and have answers with reasons
 - Who is the biggest fraud and why?
 - Example Answer: "Bernie Madoff (he performed the biggest ponzi scam in the world, check the news here: <LINK>) managed to fool a lot of people by trusting their money with him. The documentary interviewed some of the people he scammed, and it was heart-wrenching to see them explain how they've had their retirement plans going for them from all the hard work they've earned, which got taken away. Demonstrating how much of a deadly sin greed truly is."
- Concept that are common knowledge and have answers with reasons
- Suggestions to "how" questions with solid reference explanation and practical examples
- Question itself does not need explanation/reasons (OR subjective questions, just need personal experience OR list items OR facts)
 - Refer to Section 2,3,4,5